

New Spy Photos Depicting An Updated Mercedes SLK-Class And C-Class Sports Coupe

{mosgoogle right}The fine gentlemen over at World Car Fans have managed to capture not one but two new Mercedes models testing recently: a slightly-revised SLK-Class and a new C-Class Sports Coupe. For the SLK, masked areas include the both the front and rear fascia along with the head lights and tail lights; all of which still appear similar to the current SLK. As for the C-Class Sports Coupe, it appears exactly as you'd expect it to - styling updated to reflect the recently-introduced 2008 C-Class paired with the same form held by the former C-Class sports coupe.
