

Mercedes-Benz R 63 AMG Makes Its Debut In Chicago

{mosgoogle right} In September of last year, hundreds of thousands of visitors attended a little get-together known as the International Auto Show. Although typically thought of as a male-dominated gathering, there was one vehicle at the show that drew both moms and stay at home dads to it like bees to a honeypot. That vehicle was the Mercedes-Benz Vision R 63 AMG, a four wheel drive minivan packing an astounding 6.3-Liter 510 horsepower V8 and an electronically limited top speed of 155 mph.
