

The World's Fastest And Most Powerful Coupe: Brabus Unleashes The 730 Horsepower SV12 S Biturbo Cou

If the Mercedes CL600's standard 510 horses aren't enough to appease your deep-seeded power cravings, BRABUS has announced details of their newest mind-numbingly-fast entry in the land of Mercedes tuning - the SV12 S. Based on the CL600, the SV12 S is being billed as the world's fastest and most powerful coupe, and while I personally can't vouch for the statements, the SV12 S's 730 horsepower; 1,320 Nm of torque (at 2,100 rpm); 0-62 mph time of 4.0 seconds and electronically-limited top speed of 211 mph are without question in a supremely-elite league of performance figures.
