

Car And Driver Grabs Spy Shots Of The 2010 Mercedes E-Class And The SL65 AMG Black Series

If you're one of the many anticipating what the future holds for either the 2010 Mercedes E-Class or the Mercedes SL65 AMG Black Series, the fine gentlemen of Car and Driver recently captured a number of spy photos which will give you a slightly clearer vision of what to expect from each. In the pictures, both models' contours and styling are relatively distinguishable, including the E-Class' new headlights (which mimic the new SL headlights) and sculpted lines (reminiscent of the new C-Class) as well as the SL Black's various vents and bulges.

Â

Read moreÂ