

Mercedes Unveils Interactive Web Special To Promote The New GLK

{mosgoogle right}For those of you eagerly anticipating the launch of the new Mercedes GLK (or those of you still deliberating whether or not the new compact SUV is worth your hard-earned riches), a fantastic new webspecial dedicated to the model has just been released which grants a unique, interactive look at the model. In addition to offering traditional interactive content, such as the ability to customize your own GLK with various colors, rim designs and equipment packages, the web special also offers users the ability to obtain comprehensive behind-the-scenes access to the design and engineering features of the GLK.
