

Mercedes-Benz USA's Sales Decline 23.5 Percent In February 2009

{mosgoogle right}Mercedes-Benz USA (MBUSA) has reported February sales of 14,199 vehicles. While sales for the month were down from last year, the company's February volume put it ahead of its mainstream competitors for the month.

A key contributor to February performance was the all-new 2010 GLK350, MBUSA's versatile, compact SUV, which made a strong showing during its first full month on the market with sales of 1,918. The GLK's February sales made it one of the company's top-selling models behind the C-Class (3,990) and E-Class (2,104).
