

2010 Mercedes-Benz E-Class Cabriolet Spied With Top Down

{mosgoogle right}Now that the new 2010 Mercedes-Benz E-Class is officially on sale here in the U.S., its time to start the countdown for the next soon-to-be-released model. That model, of course, is the 2010 Mercedes E-Class Cabriolet, the drop top version of the Mercedes E-Class Coupe that debuted back in February.

Unfortunately, theres no clear confirmation as to when the model will be officially unveiled â€” some rumors place its premier at the Frankfurt Motor Show this fall; others think it will be next March in Geneva â€” but whatever the case, here are the latest nearly undisguised photos of the model.

Â

Read moreÂ