

Put Some Clothes On: Photos Of The 2008 Mercedes C-Class' Naked Back End

{mosgoogle right}As you may have noticed, problems with our internet connection have prevented us from posting any stories this delightful November morning. It appears, however, that we're back online, so I will now attempt to quickly cover anything I've missed today. First up are spy photos published by Winding Road which depict the undisguised back end of the upcoming 2008 Mercedes-Benz C-Class. Revealed for the first time are the new model's tail lights, bumper, trunk and both doors; and I have to say, I think it looks pretty damn good.

Â

Read moreÂ