

Ready, Set, Go: Smart Production Gets Off To A Successful Start

{mosgoogle right}Those of you eagerly awaiting the arrival of the next smart fortwo won't have much longer to wait - production of the lovable smart is already well underway, getting off to a success start at the brand's production plant in Hambach, France. As for the first smart fortwo to roll off the French assembly line, that honor goes to a member of the "pure" equipment line, one which sports simple white body panels and a black tridion safety cell.

Â

Read moreÂ