

Car Magazine Unearths New Spy Photos Of The Upcoming Mercedes-Benz GLK-Class

It's been some time since we've had the pleasure of reporting about Mercedes' upcoming small SUV, the GLK-Class; but today, Car magazine has unearthed the latest round of spy photos depicting the new model. As with the previous GLK spy shots, the sport-ute is still under heavy disguise, a fact which does little to hide its resemblance to the current GL. This of course further validates the GLK's early billing as a mini-GL, an assumption that it appears will end up coming to fruition.
