Mercedes Car Group's Head Of Development Thomas Weber Confirms A Mercedes Hybrid In 2009

{mosgoogle right}I ran across this story yesterday but I didn't quite find the time to publish it. In a statement made at the Geneva Motor Show, Thomas Weber, head of technology and research as well as development for the Mercedes Car Group, confirmed that the first Mercedes-Benz branded hybrid vehicle will launch sometime in 2009. In a brief statement, Weber stated: 'In 2009 we will have the first Mercedes-branded hybrid on the market.'

Â

Read moreÂ