Mercedes-Benz At Auto China 2008: World Premiere Of The GLK-Class; SL, M-Class And CLS Now Even More

{mosgoogle right}Welcome back ladies and gentlemen; I hope you all had a fantastic weekend. Kicking things off this morning comes coverage of the Auto China fair in Beijing, an event that in addition to being regarded as the most successful in the Middle Kingdom, also heralds the launch of the newest Mercedes class: the GLK. To celebrate the grand unveiling, Mercedes today has published a number of press releases and photos detailing both the GLK as well as the other models headlining the show, so to get them out as quickly as possible I'm going to publish each without commenting. Not to worry, however, because regular programming will commence immediately following our coverage of the fair.
