

New Mercedes-Benz Gullwing Sports Coupe Spied In A Slightly More Revealing Outfit

{mosgoogle right}On Friday, AutoWeek, published a fresh batch of Mercedes-Benz Gullwing spy photos, but an increasingly hectic behind-the-scenes schedule here at eMercedesBenz prevented us from telling you about them. Better late than never is my mantra, so if you missed them, here they are, in all their camouflaged glory.

Despite the masking, this is by far the best look yet at what will be the new Mercedes Gullwing. Visible is a single louvre grille, reminiscent of the original 300SL Gullwing, as is a moveable spoiler in the rear. The overall contours of the model are also much more visible, due to the removal of the false body panels seen in the past.
