

2010 Mercedes-Benz E63 AMG First Glimpse

{mosgoogle right}Welcome back ladies and gentlemen; I hope you all had a fantastic March weekend. As you may remember, last week we told you about a batch of new spy photos that had emerged recently highlighting the forthcoming 2010 Mercedes E63 AMG, and today, we can do you one better. The German publication sport auto has published a sneak peak at the Affalterbach-bred model – one that shows half of the model's front apron and headlights along with its front wheel. Pair it with the previous spy photos depicting the E63 AMG's unmasked rear along with a little imagination, and you've got a pretty clear idea of what to expect from the 2010 E63.

Â

Read moreÂ