

DaimlerChrysler's Smart Plans For The Future

{mosgoogle right} According to the press release, the main objective for the smart brand will be to concentrate on the smart fortwo.Â To do so, DaimlerChrysler will cancel production of the ailing smart forfour, a car produced by the Mitsubishi Motor Corporation and hated by DC investors around the world.Â In addition, DaimlerChrysler will also attempt to bolster sales for the smart brand by better integrating smart into the Mercedes organization.

Â Read more